Suspension Wrangle Flares Up Once Again

Mayor C. E. Oliver's treatment of City Works Superintendent E. R. Gayfer was branded "despicable and cowardly" last night as the storm over Mr. Gayfer's suspension by the mayor two weeks ago, flared up again at city council meeting.

Ald. P. E. Pauls said the mayor was blaming an appointed official for something that was the responsibility of city council.

"For any member of council to hide behind an appointed official in this way and blame him for something that was accepted by the whole council, is utterly despicable and cowardly," Ald. Pauls declared. "If you find me shirking my responsibility in this way, you can call me a coward any time you like. . . . The day that I shirk my responsibility I'll resign and you won't even have to ask me."

"I certainly don't agree that Mr. Gayfer should be penalized for something that was approved in the budget by council," affirmed

Ald. C. P. Bird.

The storm broke when Mayor Oliver gave his reply to a request from Mr. Gayfer for a letter assuring him that his professional qualifications as an engineer were not questioned in the suspension. The mayor refused to give any such assurance saying he had not changed his mind that Mr. Gayfer acted improperly in placing an order for pipe for a project that wasn't necessary, namely replacement of the Okanagan River Irrigation pump line.

The mayor refused to heed council protests that replacement of the line was approved by council in the preliminary budget and the go-ahead for the pipe order was subsequently given by council's irrigation committee. He did not agree that Mr. Gayfer was merely carrying out the orders given to him but could present no evidence to substantiate his disagreement.

Council members reaffirmed their reinstatement of Mr. Gayfer with no dissenting votes.

When Mr. Gayfer said he was primarily concerned about getting a letter protecting his reputation, the mayor replied, "But I don't think that way."

"Any mistake is our fault, not Mr. Gayfer's," Ald. Bird pointed out.

"I'll hang by it"

"I stick to my own opinion and I'll hang by it," replied the mayor.

"I'm afraid we're developing to the point where our appointed officials will be afraid to express any opinion at all," observed Ald. Pauls. "If we are to accept the principle that when council makes a mistake, we'll hide behind appointed officials, who have no control over the budget, God help Penticton."

Replying point by point to a catalogue of charges levelled against him by the mayor, Mr. Gayfer said he had not called for tenders when placing the controversial pipe order because he was interested in trying out a new type of joint which he thought was available only through Oliver Chemical Co. He subsequently learned that a similar fixture was available through other city firms and admitted that tenders should have been called as part of city policy.

He denied stating anywhere that replacement of the Okanagan River pump line was necessary because of a water shortage in the Ellis Creek system and the mayor was unable to find any such statement in Mr. Gayfer's report of 1954 where he said he had previously found it.

To the mayor's charge that "the superintendent is determined to foist on the growers the use of expensive pumped water . . . and recommended the installation of four large pumps for Okanagan Lake and the transfer of the two present pumps to Skaha Lake," Mr. Gayfer challenged the mayor to find any such recommendation. "I think you will find this pumping plan was only presented as a possibility in my 1954 report," he said.

Rocket Ship Undergoes Flight Tests

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — (AP) — The X-15 rocket ship was carried aloft today by a B-52 bomber for the first of a series of flight tests expected to put man in space this summer. The X-15 will not be cut loose from its mother ship today—unless something goes wrong. If it does, the plane will be dropped and test pilot Scott Crossfield will have to find his way back to earth the best way he can.

Increased Aid for Farmers Promised

OTTAWA — (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker emphasized today he would use every possible means of increasing aid for Prairie farmers but he indicated there would be no immediate action to provide growers with the $300,000,000 in deficiency payments they have requested. In an hour-long speech before the mass delegation of Prairie grain growers, he outlined some of the existing and future plans of agriculture—plans to boost farm credit and provide crop insurance, provide aid for wheat exporters and keep intact the low Crownst freight rates on export grain.

KEENLEYSIDE ASSOCIATED WITH UN

B.C. Power Chief Named

VICTORIA (CP) — Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, globe-trotting diplomat and United Nations official who has been described as one of Canada's ablest statesmen, has been appointed chairman of the British Columbia Power Commission.

He will take over the duties as head of the publicly owned power commission April 1 and at the same time will begin acting as special adviser to the government on resources development, including development of Columbia River power.

Appointment of the 60-year-old diplomat was announced in the legislature Monday by Premier Bennett, who described Dr. Keenleyside as "one of the keenest minds in Canada."

Dr. Keenleyside now is undersecretary of public administration with the United Nations and he currently is on a lecture tour that is to take him to Jerusalem today. He is due back in New York April 1.

HEADS NEW BOARD

He will head a new five-man power commission and replace T. H. Crosby, who resigned with other members of the commission at the height of a recent controversy over government financing of commission operations.

In New York, a source close to Dr. Keenleyside said he will keep his United Nations post until Dec. 1 before taking over full time as chairman of the power commission. He will travel between New York and Victoria much of this year, working at both jobs.

Premier Bennett announced the appointment as the legislature considered legislation to increase the borrowing power of the power commission to $300,000,000 from $250,000,000.

"It is a Canadian of outstanding ability," Mr. Bennett said of Dr. Keenleyside. "He is distinguished in Canada and throughout the world."

There was no announcement on who will serve on the new commission with Dr. Keenleyside nor on salary for the new chairman, who now is reported making $30,000 a year with the United Nations, where he has been on leave from the Canadian government service since 1950.

All three members of the previous commission resigned after general manager H. Lee Briggs charged the government with adding cost burdens to power

$23 MILLION FOR HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Legislature to Dig Into Road Estimates

VICTORIA (CP)—The legislature is expected to dig into the estimates of the highways department today following second reading on another series of bills.

The health department expenditures, totalling more than $23,000,000, were approved Monday night after the afternoon session had dealt with several bills.

Among the bills given second reading Monday was one setting up a racing commission with wide powers to govern horse racing in the province.

Attorney-General Bonner told the House the legislation is aimed at a "greater sense of confidence" on the part of those who like to put down a bet now and then.

Premier Bennett insisted on a division on a bill to authorize the University of B.C. to set up a $2,000,000 loan fund for students who need money to continue their education. The vote was 47 to 0 in favor.

Another important bill considered during the afternoon would empower the toll bridges and highway authority to increase its borrowing powers to $100,000,000 from $30,000,000.

Mr. Bennett said this extra financing was needed to build the two ferries the government proposes to operate between Vancouver Island and the mainland along with such projects as new bridges and the Deas Island tunnel.

He called for a recorded vote which was 37 to 10 in favor of the bill, the Liberals voting with the Social Credit government against the 10-man CCF opposition.

At the night sitting, Opposition Leader Strachan said he has been unable to get information from Health Minister Martin by writing letters, by personally visiting the ministers office or by asking questions on the House order paper.

He said he has placed 11 questions concerning social welfare with the minister but has received no answers.

Clue Found in Girl's Slaying

TORONTO (CP) — A car with a missing horn ring has been found parked near a field where the body of a 12-year-old girl was discovered Monday night, police said today.

A broken car horn ring had been found near the body and police considered it a possible clue in the strangling of Patricia Lupton.

She was beaten and choked to death somewhere between her suburban Scarborough home and a nearby supermarket where she had agreed to meet a man about a baby-sitting job.

Metropolitan Toronto police and the Ontario attorney-general's department have offered a joint $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the slayer.

The girl left home at dusk on Monday night to arrange a baby-sitting job. An hour later her body, a man's scarf knotted tightly around the neck, was found in a snow-covered field by three men. The girl had not been raped, but her clothes were disarranged.

Mrs. B. E. Lupton, who has five other children, said her daughter had added her name to a list the girl's friends placed on a supermarket bulletin board offering baby-sitting services.

A man telephoned the Lupton home at 6 p.m. in response to the notice and a half-hour later the girl left for a rendezvous at the store.

Biech Issues Challenge to Fruit Officials

Alf T. Biech of Oliver, organizer of the Okanagan-Kootenay Co-operative Growers Association which is waging a fiery campaign against the revised three-party contract and the BCFGA central selling scheme, today challenged five fruit industry leaders to meet him at "open public meetings" under neutral auspices.

The challenge was contained in an "open letter statement to press and radio" in which Mr. Biech reversed his stand of last week when he rejected a Penticton Board of Trade offer to provide an impartial chairman for such a meeting.

He also claimed the Osoyoos Local of the BCFGA had invited him and Sterling Hauser to their meeting tonight only "to deceive Osoyoos growers to attend the meeting and there to listen to their five speakers."

"The BCFGA at Osoyoos does not want to allow Mr. Sterling Hauser and/or myself to debate with Mr. Greenwood and/or with Mr. Walrod, and/or with Mr. Wright, and/or Mr. Wells and/or Mr. Garrish," the statement declares. "We were only invited to attend the BCFGA meeting which is a waste of time for me."

Power Defeats Bertram in Close Contest

Clarence Power fought off a late rally by the Bertram rink in Lakeshore Motel curling this morning to register a 10-6 victory.

Bertram took the lead in the close game in the first end only to have Power tie the score in the second and move ahead 3-2 in the third.

From then on Bertram stayed close enough to be a constant worry, but could never pull out the extra rock to break even.

Going into the tenth the score was 8-6 but Power's final rock removed any threat of an extra session on the ice.

In other games in the ten o'clock draw of the Penticton Granite Club's Fourth Annual bonspiel Carse defeated Young 11-8 and Hines defeated Carter, Summerland, 7-4.

Play will continue throughout the balance of this week.

Trouble at IWA Picket Line Feared

By IAN MacDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—The air was tense in this papermill town today as the newly formed Brotherhood of Newfoundland Woods Workers (Ind.) resumed contract negotiations with officials of the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company.

The tension grew with reports that members and supporters of the striking International Woodworkers of America (IWA) will try to stop members of the new union from crossing IWA picket lines if the brotherhood signs a working agreement with the company.

RCMP forces were reinforced by the arrival of about 100 men Monday, among them between 15 and 20 members of the Newfoundland constabulary, which polices the city of St. John's.

Following the walkout the Canadian Labor Congress revoked the charter of the affiliated council.

Lumbermen Plan Two-Day Convention

Interior lumbermen and their wives will hold their annual gathering this week in Penticton when the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association convenes.

The 65-member organization will mix business with social events during the two-day meet Thursday and Friday in the Prince Charles Hotel.

Election of officers, panel discussions and presentation of reports are on the agenda.

While the lumber operators are listening to a discussion of spruce manufacturing Friday afternoon, the ladies will attend a demonstration of hair styles.

The event winds up Friday evening with a banquet and dance, during which safety awards will be handed out.

Attempt to Upset Line Plans Fail

An attempt to upset plans confirmed last week for replacement of the controversial Okanagan River Irrigation pump line, was foiled by city council last night. Expressing themselves "vigorously opposed" to the line's replacement were Mayor Oliver and Ald. C. P. Bird. The latter charged replacement of the line would be "a wicked waste of money" at a time when the city was facing a year of stringent economies due to rising school costs and other increased expenditures.

Ald. Bird's motion to cancel the order calling for tenders on the pipe that would be required, failed to gain a second, however, and tenders will be called as decided last week.

Both Mayor Oliver and Ald. Bird claimed the pipe line could serve some time yet with a little patching here and there, but the $10,000 allocated for replacing the line was not necessary.

"How are we to know whether new pipe is necessary or not?" asked Ald. Kendrick.

"I'm telling you that it isn't," replied Mayor Oliver.

"But none of us are engineers," protested Ald. Kendrick.

"That's just what you're setting yourselves up as, related the mayor.

"Is there any reason for not buying the line?" Ald. Kendrick asked again.

"Because you have more water than you ever had in all history," was the mayor's vigorous reply. "You're going to be paying $120,000 more for schools and you'll need every cent you can save."

The mayor was referring to an advance peek at the school budget which has not been presented to council yet.

In refusing to support Ald. Bird's motion and letting the call for pipe tenders proceed, council members were acting on recommendation of a majority of the irrigation committee to council last week. At that time it was stated that inspection of the line indicated a need for replacement to prevent possible damage from a break in the present line.

Ald. Bird said he had discussed the matter with last year's irrigation committee and its members had recommended the line was not recommended by them because there had been no definite decision on the matter. Recommendation was definitely for maintenance of the line and possible replacement.

Decision to replace the line was made by this year's irrigation committee.

Power Calls for RCAF Not to be Grounded

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — Chubby Power has voiced a plea in the Senate that the RCAF not be grounded.

The future of the air force is a serious thing with Senator Charles Gavan Power (L. — Quebec) who, as wartime air minister, was mainly responsible for its buildup.

"Let us see to it . . . that Canadian boys will be flying Canadian planes over Canadian soil for the defence of Canada," he said Monday night in a quiet but moving speech. As long as manned aircraft were valid and necessary, RCAF pilots should have Canadian planes to fly, he said.

RCAF WINGS CLIPPED

It did not matter to him where Canada got the aircraft, so long as the RCAF's wings were not clipped and its officers not relegated to ground duties while U.S. pilots flew their planes over Canadian territory.

There also are fears, he said, that the army will take over the RCAF's air transport duties and that the navy may take over its submarine-hunting role.

Nyasaland Makes Violent Lurch to Independence

By LYNN HEINZERLING
BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP) — The lush British protectorate of Nyasaland has made a violent and bloody lurch toward eventual independence.

The wave of nationalist fervor which has swept down the African continent from the north now has engulfed this banana-shaped colonial outpost. The only outstanding Negro political leader has been arrested and deported, and his followers have poured out of the jungle — some with spears — to harass the British administration.

Riots and bloodshed followed the declaration of emergency which permitted the arrests of Dr. Hastings Banda and 150 other leaders of the African National Congress. Nearly two-score natives were killed in the early days of the emergency.

DANGER LOOMS

Backed up by troops and aircraft from neighboring Southern Rhodesia, security forces so far have been able to avert major clashes. But the end is not in sight.

Less than a century ago Nyasaland was known only to David Livingstone and slave traders, who found rich pickings along the shores of Lake Nyasa. Not until 1888 did a British consul finally arrive to set up an office in Zomba, now the seat of the colonial government. He was accredited to "kings and chiefs of central Africa."

Since 1953 Nyasaland has been one of three territories in the Central African Federation, ruled with a firm hand by Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky of Rhodesia, former locomotive engineer and heavyweight boxer. Nyasaland brought 3,000,000 Negroes, 7,000 whites and few natural resources into the federation. Northern and Southern Rhodesia are the other members.

NEGROES SUSPICIOUS

From the beginning, the Negroes regarded the federation with suspicion. Their leaders refused to take part in the London discussions that brought it about. No thinking African — white or Negro — has disputed the economic benefits which flowed. Last year Nyasaland received a cut of more than $2,000,000 from federal income tax.

But Nyasaland natives do not count among their blessings tax breaks, public buildings and hospitals. Few drive their own automobiles.

The minimum wage for a worker in Blantyre is 28 cents a day, including food. In other areas it is as low as 18 cents a day.

They complain they cannot feed their families properly or educate their children.

Legislatures Hear Attack on IWA

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Opposition members in legislatures in Newfoundland and Saskatchewan commented Monday on the International Woodworkers of America (IWA). Neither comment was favorable.

A. M. Duffy (P.C. — St. John's Centre) said in the Newfoundland House that Premier Smallwood's Liberal government was obliged to seek legislation outlawing the union, now striking against Newfoundland's Anglo — Newfoundland Development Company.

Millions of dollars were being spent on model towns by Newfoundland paper companies which are "paying higher wages than anywhere else in Eastern Canada and serving better food in their canteens," he said.

The IWA was not above reproach in Western Canada and their coming to Newfoundland had been looked upon in many circles as the start of trouble.

Mr. Duffy said, The legislature last Friday passed a bill decertifying the two IWA locals in Newfoundland.

LIBERAL APPROVES ACTION

Asmundur Loptson, veteran Liberal member of the Saskatchewan House, said Mr. Smallwood's action should be headed by other provincial premiers and the federal government, "all of whom are too lenient with labor union leaders."

He said United States unions want to hamper Canadian industries which compete with American ones and at the same time take dues from Canadian workers.

Money came up in two other provincial legislatures.

J. Harper Prowse, former Liberal leader in Alberta, said the leader of the official opposition should be paid a salary equivalent to that received by a cabinet minister.

Defence Construction To Extend Battle Line

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — Current object of Canadian air defence policy is to push defence forces some 300 miles farther north, authorities say.

The aim is to create a battle line—the line at which interceptors and missiles would engage hostile planes flying south from the Arctic Ocean—along the 55th parallel of latitude. It would thus run through the foot of Hudson Bay and just north of Lake Winnipeg.

The present limiting factor is radar. Thus the first job being undertaken in this northward push is construction of more radar stations.

At least seven new big radars will be built on a line running through the foot of James Bay and other smaller radars will be erected to fill the present gaps.

JOIN PINETREE LINE

These seven new radars — two in Central Canada and five in the West — will serve to strengthen the Pinetree radar chain which controls the operations of interceptors.

The mid-Canada line along the 5th parallel from Hopedale, Labrador, to Dawson Creek, B.C., was built only as a warning network and cannot control intercept operations.

DEW line in the Canadian Arctic is, like Pinetree, a control radar. But up to now it has been found impossible to operate jet interceptors in this area. This difficulty may be overcome when the United States has the 2,000-miles-per-hour F-108 but this won't be for four or five years.

The U.S. Air Force has said it plans to base some F-108s along the DEW line, meaning that they will be stationed in Alaska.

Macmillan, De Gaulle to Meet Today

PARIS (AP) — Britain's touring Prime Minister, Macmillan, calls on President de Gaulle to today in his continuing attempt to forge a solid Western front for negotiations with Russia on Germany.

Diplomats indicated there still were some kinks to be ironed out and that Macmillan would find the French leader intent on facing Soviet Premier Khrushchev with a tough front.

The latest Khrushchev suggestion for making West Berlin a free city but with a token Big Four garrison including Russian soldiers got a cool reception in Washington. Khrushchev's proposal was regarded as a manoeuvre to get a foot inside West Berlin.

REPORTS OF TIPOFF

Informed sources said Khrushchev had given Macmillan a tip-off on his latest idea for turning West Berlin into a "free city" but Macmillan did not mention it in his report to the House of Commons last week.

Macmillan's held exploratory talks Monday with French Premier Michel Debre. There were indications of some disagreements that need thrashing out.

Macmillan is anxious to make clear to his Allies his ideas for thinning out military forces in Central Europe — ideas that aroused some concern in Bonn and Paris that a pull back of all forces would result.

DENY DISENGAGEMENT

One of Macmillan's aides emphasized to reporters here, "the British are definitely not in favor of disengagement as that term is used in some quarters to mean a complete withdrawal of forces."

The West Germans particularly were inclined to fear the worst. West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano said Monday his government rejects any proposal for a military disengagement that does not provide for a solution to the central political problem of German unification.

Detective Breaks up Murder Plot

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Detectives, one posing as a killer-for-hire, said they broke up a murder plot Monday against an unsuspecting truck driver and arrested his wife and a preacher who shared their home.

Mrs. Beatrice Gurley, 41, mother of three children, and John A. Walker, 28, were booked for investigation of conspiracy to murder Hugh Ernest Gurley, 45.

Detective Jack Metcalf said Mrs. Gurley, believing Metcalf to be a professional killer, gave him $100 as a down payment on a $1,000 deal to shoot Gurley to death. The automobile conference between Mrs. Gurley and Metcalf was tape-recorded and photographed from concealment.

Metcalf said Mrs. Gurley signed a statement admitting she sought to have her husband slain. Walker denied any connection with the alleged plot.

Gurley listened in apparent astonishment to a tape played for him at police headquarters. "She's been so good to me lately," he said.

Metcalf quoted Mrs. Gurley as saying she wanted him killed because he wouldn't let her go to church with Walker.

Walker's religious meetings, conducted as service of the Assemblies of the Lord Jesus Christ, were held in various homes.

QUEEN DISPUTES PRICE OF PEAS

SANDRINGHAM, Eng. (AP) — It's a rare day indeed when the Queen and the mundane matter of money are mentioned in the same breath.

Today it happened, and the cause was the price of peas.

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip have threatened to cancel a pea — growing contract with a frozen food company.

Furthermore, if the frozen food company doesn't change its pea-buying policy — it can haul away its $8,400 pea separating machine from the Royal Farm in Norfolk.

The controversy came up when the company decided to pay $126 a ton for peas instead of paying by the acre.

The company said no profit could be made paying by the acre and the Royal Farm found there was no profit in growing peas for $126 a ton.

The Royal Couple have told manager Roger Mutimer that Sandringham Farm "must be made to pay its way."

Indians Pow-Wow With Gov't Officials

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — Hereditary chiefs of the Iroquois confederacy and federal government representatives met for five hours on the Six Nations reserve Monday but reached agreement on only one proposal — for another meeting.

The chiefs, who took over from the elected council in a bloodless revolution last Thursday, accused the government of stopping welfare aid because of the power seizure.

Reserve Superintendent R. J. Stallwood denied that relief has been cut off. Applications for relief have always been made to the elected council, he said, but since it was ousted no applications have been received for March.

COULDN'T AGREE

After Monday's meeting, Chief Joe Logan Jr. told reporters: "But both parties decided on a second meeting, he said.

The chiefs are trying to gain recognition by Ottawa as the governing body on the reserve.

UBC Gets Rare Book Collection

VANCOUVER — (CP) — The University of British Columbia announced Monday it has acquired one of the world's finest collections of Chinese books and manuscripts.

The 45,000 — volume collection, purchased by the university's Friends of the Library Guild, will make the university one of the five most important centres in North America for study of Chinese history, philosophy, literature and geography.

Other comparable collections are at Harvard, Columbia, University of California and in the Library of Congress in Washington.

Two years of negotiation brought the books from Yao Kwan Shek, a Chinese resident of Macao, the Portuguese colony on the China mainland. Some of the books date to 960 A.D.

Purchase price was not disclosed.

CHECK RISING COSTS Ottawa Asked to Hold Farm Prices

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government must accept responsibility for policies resulting in spiralling farm costs, the mass delegation of prairie grain growers told Prime Minister Diefenbaker today in demanding some $300,000,000 in federal deficiency payments.

"Until action has been taken to arrest this spiral, measures should be provided to maintain farm prices in compensation," the delegation argued in a 24-page brief presented to the prime minister by Jack Wesson, 77-year-old president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool.

The 1,019 delegates, housed in 13 hotels, gathered in the ballroom of the downtown Chateau Laurier Hotel to meet with Mr. Diefenbaker and his cabinet after an early — morning session with some 85 Progressive Conservative MPs, members of the party caucus sub-committee on agriculture.

CALLS PROSPECT OF RUIN

Moving without fanfare and attended for the most part in dark business suits with only a sprinkling of 10-gallon hats, the delegates have "marched" to Ottawa from the three prairie provinces for the avowed purpose of salvaging the western farm economy from what leaders have described as the prospect of ruin.

Mr. Wesson told a press conference Monday he didn't know what the delegation would do if the government would not meet farmers' demands. But other farm leaders indicated growers would be willing to consider any counter proposal the government may make.

Agriculture Minister Harkness has already indicated the administration is opposed to deficiency payments for grain.

In contrast to the $1-an-acre payment made by the government to grain growers last year with a maximum $200 for individual farmers, the new request would provide growers with an individual maximum of $4,500 spread over a three-year period. Even this amount, the delegation said in its brief, would be just enough for farmers to make ends meet.

SEE OTHER ANSWERS

These deficiency payments, to cover low earnings on grain in the last three crop years, could be reduced, the delegation added, if:

1. Grain sales and delivery quotas were increased so that farmers could get more income.
2. Other wheat exporters could be persuaded to reduce uncompetitive production so that Canadian producers could gain increased markets.
3. Federal controls were placed on prices of goods farmers use so that these steadily rising costs could be reduced.
4. Canadian bread consumers would agree to pay an extra cent a loaf so that the domestic price of wheat could be increased by 50 cents a bushel, adding an estimated $25,000,000 a year in prairie earnings.
5. The federal treasury absorbed the effect of the exchange premium on the Canadian dollar, now a little more than three per cent. Canadian wheat is quoted in American funds. Translated into Canadian dollars, earnings are reduced by the amount of the premium.

Liquid Polio Vaccine Tested

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A cherry — flavored polio vaccine which may give full protection with one swallow is being tested in an experiment involving 65 college families, it was disclosed Monday.

"If these studies substantiate the effectiveness of the vaccine, then the world is on the way toward eradication of polio," said Dr. Robert N. Barr, executive officer of the Minnesota department of health.

Barr said the new live vaccine can be given safely to a day-old infant. It can be taken in milk or fruit juice or drunk from a spoon or vial.

Unlike the Salk vaccine, which uses chemically killed polio virus to immunize against paralysis, the experimental vaccine makes use of live but tamed and weakened virus.

INFECTS BOWEL

Dr. Herman Kleinman, head of the department's chronic disease section, said "this vaccine infects the bowel, then produces antibodies that cure the infection and immunize locally and throughout the system."

He said the Salk vaccine does not protect a person catching polio and transmitting it to another, although it does prevent paralysis.

The new live vaccine has been administered more than 1,000,000 times in different parts of the world since the Minnesota project in 1958, the scientists said, "and there were no unfavorable reactions."

Grant Asked for Industry Promotion

A grant of $1,000 towards a "far better industrial promotion return than has been the case in the past", was asked of city council last night by M. G. Choukalos, president of the Pentiction Ratepayers' Association.

Seek Clarification Of CMHC Role in City Subdivisions

A letter from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation last night failed to clarify a point of concern for Pentiction city council.

Following certain changes suggested by CMHC in the plan of the Bowsfield-Schell subdivision, council asked whether subdivision plans in future must have CMHC approval to qualify for NHA loans. The corporation's reply stated only that its requirements were outlined in builders' bulletin circulated some time previously but did not specifically state whether all phases of the subdivision must be approved by CMHC.

"If Central Mortgage and Housing is going to do our planning for us then we don't need our advisory planning commission," aldermen suggested.

It is planned to discuss the matter at a meeting between a committee of council, the Bowsfield-Schell subdividers, and the CMHC representative in the Okanagan.

The changes recommended in the Bowsfield-Schell subdivision are not in accordance with the wishes of either the planning commission, city council or the subdividers.

In his request, referred to the finance and administration committee for recommendation, Mr. Choukalos claimed that city funds granted for industrial promotion purposes, have been spent without results.

"If you give us a grant and we get no results, we'll at least tell you," Mr. Choukalos said.

ALBERTA HOPELESS

He said he had just returned from a trip to Alberta and found it was pretty well hopeless to expect new industries for the city from that province because gas rates are considerably higher here.

"Only hope for new industry in Pentiction is from the south," Mr. Choukalos said. "We plan to go south as far as Florida where gas and other utility rates are higher than here."

Council members felt the present industrial promotion committee working through the board of trade, was doing a good job and any efforts by the Ratepayers' Association might be just a duplication.

Mr. Choukalos also brought greetings to council from the Warwick brothers in Edmonton and distributed match folders from the Edmonton cafe that is now operated by the former star trio of the Pentiction Vees.

CITY LAND OFFERED FOR VINEGAR PLANT SITE HERE

Arrangements are near completion for Western Vinegars Ltd. to purchase a two-acre lot of city-owned industrial land, south of the CPR depot, for construction of a vinegar plant, city council learned last night.

Reports from council committees disclosed that the purchase now depends on whether the vinegar company can get a railway spur line installed to the lot.

Proposal is to sell the lot, located between Waterloo and Hull Streets, to the company for $1,200 with a domestic water main installed by the city.

The company would be required to agree that a building, costing about $20,000, would be constructed on the property and machinery costing an estimated $30,000 would be installed. The plant would be in operation within a year from the date of the property purchase failing which the property would revert to the city.

The property is described at Lot 1, Map 5166 and has an area of over two acres.

BIG FACTOR IN U.K. RESURGENCE SAYS SPEAKER

Atom Displacing Mid-East Oil

Starting from scratch since the war, Great Britain has developed atomic energy to the point where atom power, cheaper than coal-produced electricity, is in sight.

"By 1965, Britain will be producing six million kilowatts through atomic energy, or 25 per cent of her power needs," economist James Thomson told the Pentiction Canadian Club last night.

"In my mind, this is the hand-writing on the wall for oil from the Persian Gulf."

Discussing "Britain and her problems," Thomson drew upon his broad background in the British civil service. He has worked in the economic divisions of the India and the Commonwealth offices, and has figured in the Colombo Plan.

"During the last two wars, Britain blew away in shell-smoke the accumulated reserves of a century. By 1945 she had lost her export trade, her factories were either destroyed or outmoded and three million homes were in ruins."

"Yet in 1958 we exported twice the value of goods in 1939." The switch has been from simple products such as textiles, to complex electrical equipment, jet planes and helicopters, and atomic power stations.

"In a few years we hope to be manufacturing atom-driven freighters."

The accent is on more and more research labs, looking for new ways of doing things, said Mr. Thomson.

"But our most important export is men and women—life-blood to the Commonwealth."

"This outpouring of our sons and daughters is helping blind the Commonwealth into a 'galaxy of free nations,' as Sir Wilfrid Laurier put it."

"Since the dawn of the century, there has been a steady march of countries to complete command of their own affairs."

TO SELF GOVERNMENT

"The future of the Commonwealth took a decisive turn when the United Kingdom recognized that the same principles of freedom must apply to all nations."

Since 1941, he reminded his audience, Britain has led 500 million people to self-government. "Where there was exploitation, there was also economic advance, and the implanting of those ideals which have made Britain great."

Tenders Opened for Sewer Job Debentures

Pentiction will realize approximately 97 and a half cents per dollar on its first sewer expansion bylaw debentures totalling $278,000.

Highest of seven tenders opened last night for purchase of the debentures appeared to be that from McLeod, Young, Weir & Co. on behalf of themselves and the Bank of Montreal. Their offer was $97.541 per $100 for $200,000 worth of the debentures and $97.123 per $100 for the remaining $78,000 worth.

The tenders were to be studied today and one of them accepted after consultation with the department of finance in Victoria, since the debentures will be government-guaranteed.

The other bids were: Pemberton Securities, $96.88 for $78,000; $97.32 for $200,000. A. E. Ames & Co., $97.35 for $278,000.

A. C. Lauder & Co., $97.496 for $200,000; $97.159 for $78,000. Thomas V. Reid & Co., $97.37 for $200,000; $97.01 for $78,000. James Richardson & Co., $97.289 for $200,000; $96.973 for $78,000.

Wills, Spence & Co. Ltd., $97.26 for $278,000.

SOFT EARTH SNAG Works superintendent E. R. Gayfer reported that the first portion of the four-year sewer project was underway by G. W. Leddingham Co. but considerable difficulty had been encountered in soft earth formation on Cornox Street, in a mixture of peat and clay silt.

"However representatives from both consulting engineers and soils testing firm inspected the work and are confident that the supporting power of the soil is fully adequate," Mr. Gayfer said.

"It is essentially a problem of the moment for the contractor who is having difficulty in getting up to speed. A close check of grades will be kept on this first part of the line."

The firm's contract is for a line from the present disposal plant to the new plant site with a connecting line to the present sewer positional plant. Council, however, decided that other tenders should also be invited.

On recommendation of the consulting engineers, the tender of Valley Concrete Products Ltd. was accepted for supplying 33,100 feet of eight-inch pipe, 3,350 feet of 10-inch and 310 feet of 12-inch for the sewer project.

Osoyoos Students Cop Acting Awards

OSOYOOS. — Three Osoyoos members of the South Okanagan High School Drama Club at Oliver, not only came close to winning first prize in the North Central Washington State Drama Festival at Wenatchee, but came home with top individual awards for their acting.

Director of the play, Roland Jones, SOHS English teacher and fine arts director, said that prior to the performance he felt the play might be too demanding for high school students but he was tremendously pleased with the results.

The production is one of two plays being entered by SOHS in the International Drama Festival opening at Oliver tomorrow, with a total of 14 plays entered.

Schools competing in the Wenatchee Festival included those from Bridgeport, Davenport and Wenatchee as well as Oliver.

David Clee won the best actor award while Delores Reneltow copped the best actress award and Helen Santo was awarded the best supporting actress award.

They constituted the entire cast of the play, "A Phoenix Too Frequent," by the English playwright, Christopher Fry.

Leaders Always Needed, Scout, Cub Banquet Told

SUMMERLAND. — "Scouting doesn't just happen," said Dr. D. V. Fisher, scoutmaster, addressing the Father and Son banquet of the 1st Summerland Group Scouts and Cubs. "It is backed by the community and by the work of many leaders who attend some 40 meetings a year in connection with it."

"There are camps to consider, and there is a group committee meeting once a month," he said. "Leaders are always needed."

Dr. Fisher reported that there will be a camp this year and Apple Day will be held April 11.

Youths Fined on Liquor Charges In Oliver Court

OLIVER. — Loren Del Baker, Isaac Errol Fridell and Robert Andrew Petersen all of Omak, Washington and all under 19 years of age were fined $20 and costs each by Magistrate R. E. Meadows in the Oliver Police Court on Saturday night.

The youths were charged with being minors in illegal possession of liquor. The car in which the youths were driving was seized under provisions of the Customs Act for illegally bringing liquor into Canada.

Lloyd Grant, 19, of Pentiction was fined $50 and costs and Frederick John Manery, 20, also of Pentiction, $25 and costs by Magistrate J. H. Mitchell in Oliver police court, Monday morning.

The two were charged with being minors in illegal possession of liquor.

The charge resulted from a request by the Teen Town committee for police supervision at a dance in Oliver, Saturday night in connection with the Teen Town badminton tournament.

A. D. C. Washington of Pentiction appeared on behalf of Manery.

Thomas Pinkske of Oliver also appeared before Magistrate Mitchell at the Monday morning session and was fined $10 and costs for failing to stop the vehicle he was driving at a stop sign. The incident occurred in East Oliver early Sunday morning.

TALK OF THE VALLEY

SPRING may be late in springing on Eckhardt Avenue, but one resident at least made a profit from her search for spring flowers. Tempted by the sunshine, she decided to search the hedge bordering the street for the first sign of bulbs. Never did she complete the investigation; she was too busy collecting beer and pop bottles tossed there by passing motorists. She counted 29 before she was through.

WHEN TOM WILSON left Pentiction for Toronto last Tuesday afternoon his wife worried about hearing from him, especially after she read of violent snowstorms in the East. On Sunday she was reassured that everything was fine. Tom was visiting a radio ham friend, Cam Burrows, in Chatham. A fellow ham in Kelowna picked up the message and relayed the "all's well, is everything okay" message to Mrs. Wilson.

CITY WORK CREWS are currently tearing up and replacing worn plank on the Eckhardt street bridge crossing Pentiction Creek.

AT THE PARTY following Naramata Players' "The Chalk Garden" Saturday night, someone told Pentiction school teacher George Patterson that a car was blocking other vehicles outside Poplar Grove Community Hall. Given the licence number, George repeatedly requested the unknown offender to move the car, without result. Then his wife whispered in his ear, which promptly turned red. That's right — it was his own car.

RELAX, Les Edwards isn't leaving his post as arena manager. Most readers figured out the extra letter in the caption under B. C. Girling's name on yesterday's city page. For those who couldn't it should have read "Arena Manager," not "Arena Manager."

ANNUAL MEETING of the Pentiction and District Horticultural Society will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the activity room of Queen's Park School.

THERE'S HOPE YET for disposing of the remaining 200 or so copies of the Pentiction historical booklet, city council suggested last night. Request from the Vernon museum for a copy of the Pentiction book in exchange for Vernon's historical publication, was adopted. Noting that the sale of the Pentiction histories has been proceeding very slowly since publication last May, Ald. P. E. Pauls quipped: "We're gradually getting rid of them." Copies of the book, prepared by the Pentiction branch of the Okanagan Historical Society, are available at city hall at $2.10 per.

B.C. BRIEFS

SHOPPING CENTRE

VICTORIA (CP) — Municipal Council Monday night referred W. H. Malkin Company's $92,500 offer for the five-acre Saanich municipal yard to the lands and planning committee for discussion March 19. The company wants to build a $750,000 shopping centre on the site.

CIVIC WAGE TALKS

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — Negotiations open today between 180 members of the Civic Employees' Union who seek an eight-per-cent wage increase and the city and district of North Vancouver. Union business agent Ray Mercer anticipates negotiations with the district will begin Friday on behalf of 211 employees.

FOR NEW INDUSTRY

VICTORIA (CP) — The Inter-municipality Committee Monday night appointed Alderman Edgewood, Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt and Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich as members of a standing committee to try to bring new industry to Greater Victoria.

BLAST POSTPONED

VANCOUVER (CP) — A break in a detonating wire Monday postponed until today the dynamiting of a leaning pier at the Second Narrows bridge here. The pier, all that remains of the wreckage of the bridge disaster last June, is to be broken down by a series of small blasts, then rebuilt.

FOREST RESEARCH PARLEY

COWICHAN (CP) — Forest research officers from all B.C. districts are to meet today at the Cowichan Lake experimental station for three days of discussions and field demonstrations. R. H. Spilsbury, chief of the research division, will head sessions on reforestation, cone collecting and seed registration.

MEMORIAL OF PAST

NANAIMO (CP) — The oldest wood-burning locomotive in operation in the forest industry on Vancouver Island within the next two weeks will be assigned to a permanent spot at Paldi to serve as a memorial to the old days of logging.

Getting Change no Excuse for Empty Meter Says Council

You'd better have change in your pocket when you pull up to a parking meter because the excuse that you were in a store getting change won't help you if there's a ticket put on your car.

City council made this clear last night when Claude B. Miller sent along a parking ticket asking council to cancel it.

"It's definitely unjust that I should pay it," Mr. Miller said in his letter. "I was in a store getting change for the meter when the ticket was put on my car."

"We'd have to accept the same excuse pretty often if we accept it for Mr. Miller," commented Ald. A. C. Kendrick.

"If you don't have meter money in your pocket then you shouldn't pull up in front of an expired meter," said Ald. W. H. L. Whitmer. "I've paid a ticket myself for the same reason several times and expected to."

"Yes, if we start to accept excuses like that we might just as well throw out our meters," agreed Ald. P. E. Pauls.

In future, similar complaints will be handled by the traffic department and not come before council, it was decided.

Immediate Start On Retaining Wall Along Lake

Work is to commence immediately on construction of a retaining wall along Lakeshore Drive, extending the present retaining wall westward to near the SS Slomons.

The project is part of the city's winter work campaign.

Although government approval as a winter work project has not yet been received, the work must be commenced immediately if it is to be completed within the winter work period, council was told in a report from the board of works committee.

Answers to Problems Lie in Hard Work

James Muir, Chairman and President of The Royal Bank of Canada, in an address to the Vancouver Board of Trade recently, an address accurately described by the Toronto "Globe and Mail" as "of the greatest importance"—gave a comprehensive and penetrating analysis of Canada's economic situation.

Mr. Muir sounded a timely warning about prevalent indifference to realities. He declared we of the Western World are "an indolent, pleasure-seeking and soft section of humanity as opposed to the endlessly toiling, fanatical, ambitious and dedicated hordes in other lands." Chronic inflation is the greatest single threat to Canada's economic development, according to Mr. Muir.

While emphasizing faults and dangers in our economy and in prevailing public opinion, Mr. Muir did not neglect constructive proposals. Here are relevant quotations:—"Our general aim as a great trading nation as well as a developing economy must be to discourage restrictions upon the freedom of trade throughout the world. Only in this way can we obtain markets sufficiently broad to achieve the productive efficiency of which our growing industrial plant is capable. Only in this way can we and other countries of the West help underdeveloped countries abroad to develop along the lines of private enterprise.

"We have all the requirements in natural resources, agricultural production, and industrial growth potential to enable us to lead from strength in formulating our international economic policy."

Mr. Muir concluded with an appeal that Canada should, so far as possible, substitute for "Aid, not Trade," the slogan "Aid Through Trade." In his opinion, we can provide, in this way, the most effective assistance that can be offered to underdeveloped countries abroad. "Moreover, through the reciprocal advantages of such a program, we will ensure our own healthy economic growth to a position of maturity and leadership in the family of free nations throughout the world."

Canada's Baby Boom

If the number of new births is any indication — and most people would agree that it is — last year's economic setback did nothing to shake the confidence of Canadians in their future. The recession notwithstanding, more babies — close to half-a-million in all — were born in Canada in 1958 than in any previous year.

This is news to gladden the hearts of more than the million or so fond parents directly concerned. Manufacturers of such indispensables as baby foods and powders, diapers and safety pins, layettes and carriages — to mention but a few — will be understandably delighted.

Likewise Ottawa, although its rejoicing that the number of prospective taxpayers is increasing at such a fast clip will doubtless be tempered by regret that they are not yet all grown up and at work.

The nation as a whole, of course, has good reason to welcome the arrival of nearly half-a-million infants in a single year. It stands to gain most of all. It will benefit immediately in that its population boost will, of course, contribute in no small way to economic recovery. And it will benefit no less surely in the long run, for natural increase on this scale promises well for our national future.

There is added cause for satisfaction. While our birthrate continued to hold at around 28 per 1,000 of the population (one of the highest in the world), the national death-rate fell below eight per 1,000 for the first time in Canadian history. Total number of deaths in 1958 (133,000) was nearly equalled — and, therefore, cancelled out — by the number of immigrants admitted during the year.

Making due allowances for emigration, our net gain in population in 1958 was almost 400,000 — a satisfactory figure, all things considered. But it will be a matter for much gratification if we do even better this year.

Fair Share on Defence

Much of the controversy over the Arrow fighter abandonment has shifted, and rightly, to means of finding alternative employment for laid-off Avro and Orenda workers. Here is a large pool of skills of the kind Canada must have if she is to keep any worthwhile foothold in the rapidly expanding scientific and technological fields industry has now entered.

Thinking should not be solely or even mainly in terms of military production, either. That, as we have been drastically reminded, can land us in a jolting let-down even in a period of cold war tension. The same thing would happen if and when a measure of East-West disarmament is eventually agreed. Our sights, therefore, must be set on new lines of production for peaceful purposes. Such production would not only be independent of defence orders but would benefit most from the kind of expenditures a reduction of the arms burden would permit.

The immediate problem is how to tide over this part of our aircraft and related industries and their labor forces until the big shift to other types of production can be planned and phased in. Time must be bought, and one way to buy it is to have some American, actually Canadian-American defence orders placed here, with the U.S. footing most of the bill. For every weapon so produced the U.S. would be getting the lion's share of defence insurance, so why should it not pay the lion's share of the premium?

As a member of the free world partnership, Canada has an obligation to contribute to the common defence. But neither by miscalculation, meek acceptance of the monopolistic results of U.S. industry's Washington lobbying for defence work, nor from excess of pride should Canada assume a bigger share of the burden than is properly hers. Yet we have just learned that we are to pay one-third of the cost of Bomarc bases, the new Pinetree warning line and their equipment, while only two-thirds of the cost falls on a neighbor 10 times as populous, many times richer and with far more at stake materially than we have.

A more equitable deal on the joint North American defence effort would provide work quickly for our laid-off technicians while gaining time and freeing funds to further research and expansion in areas less vulnerable to such shocks as the Arrow decision.

Deer Major Pest In New Zealand

By J.C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent
AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—The New Zealand forest service is looking for young men to take up deer hunting—as a career.

Deer in New Zealand are so numerous that they have become a major pest. Visiting hunters from North America have been stung at the great herds of deer sighted in the back country. They claim the concentration of game is the greatest anywhere outside Africa.

For years New Zealand has sought to control the herds by varying methods. "Deer cullers" have been employed to kill deer in large numbers by shooting systematically through large blocks of forest during the summer months.

Amateur stalkers have been encouraged to kill as many as possible, with no licence fee or limit bag. At times help has been available in the way of free ammunition, and in some localities hunters have been paid on kills. All these efforts have failed to keep the herds in check. Recently a new approach was tried by laying poison baits from the air. The poison 1080, said to have drastic results in the extermination of deer, was spread over a test area with the idea of applying it on a wholesale scale if the trials proved successful.

The wholesale slaughter system implied in this approach brought many protests, from stalkers and tourist organizations especially.

Tourist interests declared that an almost unique tourist asset was being ruthlessly destroyed. They said North Americans were just beginning to learn the amazing sport available in New Zealand and would visit the country in large numbers when the attractions were more widely realized.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

'Wildcat' Strikes Hit Industries

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For The Herald

LONDON — Insistence of shop stewards in key industries in calling strikes in defiance of the orders of the heads of three of Britain's largest unions has resulted in a rash of what would in Canada be termed "wildcat" strikes. Thousands of workers have obeyed the call of the shop stewards, and this has caused many thousands more to be laid off because the factories cannot operate without the striking departments.

In three particular instances, one man has been at the root of the trouble which has shut down large industries. At the Ford Motor Car plant at Dagenham, Essex, more than 7,000 workers are idle because 300 door assemblers went on strike. They refused to work alongside an employee who refused to pay up his arrears of union dues. He was expelled from his union, but the company would not dismiss him because of that, so the shop stewards called his fellow-workers out on strike, and the whole plant closed down. Top leadership of the union has told the strikers that they are acting unconstitutionally and ordered them back to work but to no avail.

Another wild cat strike of a somewhat similar character has been in effect at the Abbey Steel Works at Port Talbot. One David Jones, an 21½ week clerk, was dismissed for alleged incompetence. Immediately 10,000 workers went out on an unofficial strike in his support. The Abbey Works is the largest supplier of sheet steel to the automobile industry, and a strike there might well put 100,000 automobile workers out of employment. This strike was finally resolved when it was agreed to hire the clerk as a laborer, but only after the union heads had declared the strike illegal and ordered the men back to their jobs.

ONE DAY STRIKE

In another case, a one-day token strike was called by 60 car delivery drivers at Coventry when a union shop steward, a driver with the Car Collection Company, was dismissed. A longer stoppage was averted when the man involved found another job, and said he would not accept reinstatement with the company on any terms. Here again the shop stewards called the strike without sanction of higher authority.

Behind this rash of industrial unrest in industries associated with steel there is believed to be a plan of the Socialists to discredit private management of the steel industry, which has since decentralization been boasting about its excellent relations with its employees. Socialist leaders have been declaring that labor relations are not as perfect as the steel industry chiefs claim. The net result, however, has been to cause the union leaders considerable embarrassment.

BIBLE THOUGHT

My yoke is easy and my burden is light. — Matthew 11:30.

The burden of right and decent living is light compared with the load of crime and sin.

Diphtheria Not Entirely Licked

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Diphtheria is not completely licked. Because so many persons seem to think it is, the disease is staging a comeback.

As a matter of fact, so successful has been our immunization against diphtheria that many doctors today have never had the opportunity to diagnose and treat the disease.

EFFECTIVE CONTROL

For a disease to be controlled effectively, about 70 per cent of the population must be immune to it. Because most of our children routinely receive diphtheria toxoid these days, they are immune.

A recent issue of the "Physician's Bulletin" reports, however: "Because of the low incidence of the disease, there is no stimulus to maintain this immunity. Therefore we are developing a population of immune children but susceptible adults."

RECENT OUTBREAKS

"For this reason, the number of susceptible people may be approaching the danger level, and sporadic outbreaks may be expected to, and indeed, do occur." Actually, outbreaks have occurred recently in various localities, particularly in urban areas of the north. Up until this time, these places had been almost entirely free of the disease for years.

Another problem created by the decrease of immune mothers is that fewer babies are brought into the world with passive immunity to the disease. If the mothers are not immune, they can't pass this protection on to

OTTAWA REPORT

Acute Lack of Help for MPs

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

The Congress of the United States has been described as a place "every man is a king, with sufficient staff to prove it."

Congress is roughly comparable to our Federal Parliament. It consists of two Chambers: the Upper Chamber called, like ours, the Senate, and the lower one, corresponding to our House of Commons but with much less power, called The House of Representatives.

What is of especial interest in Canada about that quotation repeated above is the clause saying: "with sufficient staff to prove it."

An oft-repeated and justifiable criticism about our Parliament is the acute lack of help of all kinds available to our Parliamentarians, each of whom does not have even enough staff to prove him a corporal.

RESEARCH STAFF LACK

Very few of our MPs have even a whole-time stenographer allotted to them. Many have to be content with half a girl, extracted with difficulty from the typists' pool or the coffee break.

Apart from Cabinet Ministers and Leader of the principal opposition party, no MP is provided with staff of the quality and experience to do research work for him, or to do speech material. If an MP wishes to save the taxpayers' money by making maximum use of his stenographic help, he must of course use some form of tape recorder with playback device. But the bureaucratic mentality would sooner see idle staff than spend money to obviate wasted time while MPs are in the Chamber or in Committee. So the keen MP has to spend anything up to $800 to supply a tape recorder for his stenographer to use.

Against this background, our parliamentarians are some turn green with envy at what recent revelations about practices in Washington's Capitol.

There, a member of the House of Representatives is entitled to hire up to eight clerks of various grades to form his personal staff. He may hire whom he pleases, and not just take what the Civil Service Commission or the typists' pool may give him.

Each Congressman may pay his personal staff a total salary not exceeding $35,000 a year, with no single clerk receiving more than $13,334. He may put his wife, son, cousin, brother or other relative on the public payroll, and many do. He may even employ at the public expense his wife or other relative staying back home at Chipmunk Crossing, to report to him on grass roots sentiment in his constituency.

FUT KIN TO WORK

In the last Congress, 40 Representatives hired their wives as secretaries. In this Congress, just two months old, six new Representatives have already got the idea and hired their own wives at anything from a lowly $4,000 to a princely $12,000 a year.

Some Congressmen have developed the idea of family togetherness to the point where father, mother and adult children move in a phalanx from the family breakfast table to father's office, in Congress.

One new Representative, Steven Carter of Iowa, has hired his 19 year old undergraduate son as his administrative assistant at $11,081. Senator Lyndon Johnson employs his brother and his sister-in-law. There is no infraction of the law in this, although a sub-committee recently recommended against it, only to see its advice set aside by the parent committee whose chairman and senior opposition member both employed their wives as secretaries.

I do not know of any case where a Canadian Parliamentarian has employed his wife as his stenographer, and under our system this would be next to impossible.

But an American Senator or Representative, who receives $22,500 in salary plus a generous expense allowance, can certainly thus help his family budget in a manner not open to our Parliamentarians, who are paid only a meagre $8,000 a year plus a pitifully inadequate expense allowance of $2,000 a year which falls far short of covering even the travelling and living expenses incidental to attending session at Ottawa.

Smallwood Puts 'Torch to Labor'

The following editorial comment on Premier Smallwood's actions in the current loggers' strike in Newfoundland has been gleaned from newspapers across Canada by the Canadian Press.

Winnipeg Tribune (Ind.)—Joey Smallwood says that in outlawing the unions he is 'holding a torch to the rest of Canada.' A more accurate assessment might be that he is putting a torch to recognized labor principles.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, with his interest in a bill of rights, has reason to be disturbed at what is going on in Newfoundland.

Kitchener Waterloo Record (Ind.)—Premier Smallwood's personal entry into the IWA strike against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company seems more foolhardy than judicious.

Regardless of the success of the plan to form an independent union to represent the Anglo-Newfoundland Company's workers, the Smallwood program will spark general labor opposition. It is indicated.

If this does develop, Mr. Smallwood's solid hold on his electorate will be in danger of slackening.

Kingston Whig-Standard (Ind.)—We have expressed the opinion that while the premier had a right to insist upon the rule of law, he should not have tried to form a union for the loggers. That is not a function of government.

The legislation being considered against the teamsters is a bill which would permit the dissolution of any union which has officers who have been convicted of "white slavery, trafficking in narcotics, manslaughter, embezzlement, perjury." This is the kind of legislation we need the rest of Canada since it is more foolhardy than judicious.

Regardless of the success of the plan to form an independent union to represent the Anglo-Newfoundland Company's workers, the Smallwood program will Sarnia Observer (Ind.)—It does not appear that the Canadian government has much right to step into the Newfoundland trouble, even though the demands from organized labor to do so are strong. Rather it would seem that the proper course is through the Supreme Court of Canada to test the legality of the provincial enactments in this case. Such a procedure would keep the whole matter within proper legal channels and keep Ottawa from being accused of meddling in provincial affairs.

Oshawa Times (Ind.)—Premier Smallwood is pursuing a strange course in Newfoundland one that can only lead him to disaster. The intention of legislation is undoubtedly honorable but in practice it could well be nothing more than a device to prevent any North American union from organizing in Newfoundland. And in the light of the premier's highly intemperate remarks about some North American unions, it seems that isolation of the island from the mainland labor movement is the real purpose of the amendment.

Charity Herald (Ind.)—Mr. Smallwood has taken it upon himself to break up a union, one that has been legally constituted and which apparently has called a strike. Mr. Smallwood's action brings the government actively, and on one side, into what is essentially a civil dispute. Regardless of the merits of the current labor fight in Newfoundland the long range effect of his direct intervention in this manner is going to be harmful.

Medicine Hat News (Ind.)—It may give Premier Smallwood satisfaction to find that his assessment of his personal power in Newfoundland was well founded. It should not give him satisfaction that he wielded that power mercilessly against a duly constituted labor union which had been elected in an atmosphere free of crushing government pressure — a police man for a considerable number of Newfoundland citizens.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. E. W.: What causes my daughter's hands to sweat and feel clammy?

Answer: Cold clammy hands may be of no significance. In some instances this may be caused by circulatory and glandular disorders or a nervous condition. A check-up by your doctor will reveal if anything is wrong.

WORDS OF THE WISE

You cannot raise a man up by calling him down.

AUGUST MOON SHINES ON TEAHOUSE CAST

Teahouse of the August Moon will be staged in the high school auditorium March 16-17 by the Penticton Little Theatre and the night school drama classes here. A cast of 27 local artists will perform in the hilarious comedy with its Oriental setting. David Jansen as Captain Fishy, standing to the left, and Peter Hawkins, as "Sakini" extreme right, kneeling, co-star in the production. Other performers pictured above, back row, left to right, are: Leland Faebish, playing the part of "Seiko"; Voghn Faebish as "Lotus Blossom"; Denise Carroll, "Miss Hija Jiga"; Joan Lockhart, a villager, and Frances Johnson, a geisha girl. Clive Hawtree, in the front, is also cast as a villager, and seated in the row back of him are, Larry Doersken, another villager; Tom Hawtree, as "Mr. Oshira"; Rosalie Morton and Jackie Coulson, villagers. Alfreda Melhuish is directing.

COLORED SLIDES

Address on Ornamental Trees Given at Institute Meeting

Guest speaker at the March meeting of the Penticton Women's Institute, A. W. Watt of West Summerland, district horticulturist for the Provincial Government, demonstrated a talk on "Ornamental Trees" with colored slides, many taken in Summerland gardens.

Among the flowering trees shown were the Red Bud, pink and white Dogwood, flowering Crabapple, the varieties of Prunus trees, plum, peach and almond. Shade trees included Maples, Birch, Ginkgo and the beautiful Russian Olive, with its silver leaves making it very popular as a background setting in the garden.

Business of the afternoon dealt with an invitation from the Ki-Wassa Club to attend a presentation in support of the proposed Senior Citizens' Housing Project here. Miss Carol Lane, a travel authority and representing the Shell Oil Company, will be the speaker at the Hotel Prince Charles, March 25. Many members expressed interest in attending.

NEW RESIDENT WELCOMED
Mrs. Frank Twinn, a new resident in Penticton, was introduced as a long-time member of the WI in Ontario. She thanked the members for the jams, jellies and pickles which they had given her soon after her arrival in the Okanagan.

Mrs. Harry Edwards reported that the Penticton WI had sold 137 cookbooks and that more could be obtained if others wished to purchase them. She also consented to convene a bake sale in April.

In announcing plans for the April meeting, Mrs. Edwards stated that Miss Fern Trout, nurse supervisor at the local hospital, would be the guest speaker. Members were requested to take handicrafts to the meeting for a display.

SEWING MEETING
A sewing meeting of Red Cross work will be held March 18 at 2 p.m. in the Health Centre. All interested in working with the WI members are invited to join them in the Red Cross project. Tea was served following adjournment, by Mrs. James Meldrum, Mrs. R. Niederman and Mrs. Viaud.

SWEET POTATO LOAF

LET'S EAT

Serve Baked Fish East Indian Style

A highlight of the remarkable dinner given recently in New York City for food editors by the American Spice Trade Association was a program of folk songs presented by the United Nations Singers. This choir of men and women of all nationalities, some in native costumes, sang with skill, touching simplicity and enthusiasm. They presented folk songs of many countries.

Typical breakfast meats, sausages, bacon, or ham — can be served with or instead of the egg dish. Ordinary toast can be replaced by toasted fruit bread, fresh doughnuts, toasted English muffins or scones, warm sweet rolls, or a coffee ring. Bring out cooked jams or preserves, and make lots of coffee to last through the leisurely meal.

So that the hostess may enjoy her guests and the meal she has planned for them, she will organize her preparation, and work well ahead. Table can be set, fruit can be prepared and refrigerated, toast baskets can be made, ready for reheating.

Scrambled egg mixture can be ready, and meat can be laid in the pans. Coffee can be measured and rolls or doughnuts can be ready for heating. Then when guests start to arrive, a few minutes in the kitchen will give ample time to set a delicious party meal before them.

Wife Preservers

To keep new paper money from sticking together, fold down alternate corners of bills when you put them in your wallet or purse.

Sweet Potato Croquettes: Cool mixture for sweet potato loaf; shape into croquettes. Coat with slightly beaten egg and fine dry bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat (370° F.) according to frying thermometer, or not enough to brown a cube of bread in 1 min. Drain on absorbent towels.

Oliver Lodges Hold Dance and Auction

OLIVER — Oliver Oddfellows and Rebekahs held a dance and party at the Elks' Hall with many visitors from Oroville attending. Card games and dancing to the swinging music of a six-piece orchestra from Okanagan Falls, under the direction of Bob Burns, was enjoyed by all.

During the evening prizes donated by local merchants were auctioned off by Mr. Sharp, master of ceremonies. A humorous line to the auction was the bidding on a silver sail boat which realized the sum of $112. A successful bidder from Oroville, was surprised to find he had just purchased a Canadian 10 cent piece, however he got the dime for eight cents as it was a Chinese auction.

Lottie Doerfler won the ladies' choice spot dance. Bill Higginbotham of Oroville and Mona Sharp won the waltz contest.

Seleda Lavik and her refreshment committee served a delicious lunch at midnight.

It was announced Oroville will be holding a dance party on March 14, and issued an invitation to the Oliver members. Music will be supplied by the Bob Burns orchestra.

Progressive Dinner By Testalinda W.I.

OLIVER — The March monthly meeting of the Testalinda WI was held Friday evening in the form of a progressive dinner party with courses ranging from cocktails to coffee, and thoroughly enjoyed by the 19 members taking part.

The business meeting was held at the president's home, Mrs. B.

Dyck. A letter of appreciation was read from Ram Basu, guest speaker at the February meeting.

It was agreed to join the April Fundae Society for this year and a representative was appointed.

The WI members are again answering the appeal for infant layettes for Arab refugees and a work party will be held as soon as material is available.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. Alarie, the agriculture convener, and all members are asked to take a potted plant grown by the member. These will later be sold. Hostesses will be Mrs. A. Kesseling and Mrs. E. Hopkins.

Friends Honor Vera Miller at Pre-Nuptial Party

SUMMERLAND — Fifty-four friends met recently in a community gathering in the basement of the Church of God, Trout Creek, to honor Miss Vera Miller of Edmonton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, prior to her marriage to R. Neil Watson of Edmonton.

The evening was enjoyed by everyone and was an opportunity for a miscellaneous shower, contests, musical entertainment and best wishes to the bride-to-be.

Mauve and yellow streamers decorated the room and forsythia and pussy willows indicated the spring season.

Many lovely gifts were arranged in a decorated box on a large table under a wedding bell and surrounding the box. After the gifts were opened and admired the program was carried out. Later refreshments were served to conclude the happy occasion.

Two Events Planned By Church Circle

The Maple Leaf Circle of the Penticton United Church Women's Federation will cater for a luncheon this month and another in April. Tentative luncheon plans were made at the March meeting held at the home of Mrs. E. S. Bearcroft, 599 Eckhardt Avenue.

Mrs. Carl Nerby presided and also conducted a devotional program prior to business discussions.

Several visits were made during February to senior citizens at Valley View Lodge and Blossom Valley Home, reported Mrs. A. Stromberg and Mrs. Kinney. Following adjournment, refreshments were served by Mrs. Bearcroft assisted by Mrs. J. Tribe.

CREAMY EGGNOG SAUCE
2 1/2 cups cold milk
1/2 cup cold light cream
1/4 teaspoon rum extract
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 package vanilla instant pudding
Four milk and cream into mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients and beat slowly with egg beater just until well mixed, about 1 minute. Let stand to set — takes about 5 minutes. Just before serving, stir until smooth and creamy. Serve over fruit or cake squares.

Note: If desired, sauce may be chilled. Just before serving, stir until creamy.

RIPLEY'S BELIEVE IT OR NOT!

Everybody Enjoys 'Spats' in House

By JAMES K. NESBITT
VICTORIA—When the Premier and the Leader of Her Majesty's Opposition have a bit of a spat in the House the citizens in the public galleries thoroughly enjoy themselves and so, of course, do Messrs. Bennett and Strachan.

One night the Premier said Mr. Strachan does nothing but engage in what the Premier called a lot of political chatter. However, said the Premier, plunging into philosophy, he doesn't object to Mr. Strachan and his C.C.F.'ers talking their heads off, because when they do so, said the Premier, they only show that they don't know anything about anything, certainly not enough to ever form a government.

Mr. Strachan, as he lectured the Premier about what to him are the government's many sins, was interrupted by backbench S.C.'ers, so Mr. Strachan paused dramatically, put hands on hips, and, in object tones, said: "How they object to a few home truths!" But the S.C.'ers weren't in the least chilled by Mr. Strachan, and kept bouncing back at him.

The Premier said democracy is a fine thing, even though it has some drawbacks. Yes, a fine thing, Mr. Speaker, yes, splendid is democracy, and that's why, said the Premier, he has patience with Mr. Strachan. The Premier said he'd rather put up with what he called the "blat-blah-blah" of Mr. Strachan and his C.C.F.'ers than live under a dictatorship.

When the vote was taken S.C. Corbett of Yale and S.C. Mr. Shelford of Omineca voted with the opposition against the government which they purport to support.

A little defection like this in S.C. ranks doesn't worry the Premier, because it gives him an opportunity to tell the world, so to speak, that Social Credit is wide and free and broad-minded, that there's no dictatorship in it, that S.C.'ers are free to do as they like, and vote as their consciences dictate.

WORLD BRIEFS

TRIED TO POISON SON
LOS ANGELES (AP)—A judge has ruled mentally incompetent mother accused of mauling poisoned candy to her mentally retarded son in Arizona, Edna Frances Howard, 36, of Pasadena, is in jail on a charge of attempted murder. The child went unharmed after discovery of the poison.

ORDER BODY RELEASED
TIFTON, Ga. (AP)—A judge has ordered a Tifton undertaker to return to her parents the body of one of nine Negro pupils drowned last week in a school bus accident. Kenney and Addie Lee Wilcox contended that the Melton and Sun Funeral Home refused to release the child's body after they refused to agree to pay $1,250 for a funeral.

STUDENT SLASHED
NEW YORK (AP)—An 18-year-old student playing basketball at Seward Park High School was slashed in the stomach Monday night by another 18-year-old player, police reported. Armand Droz was reported in serious condition. Police said he was slashed by Jose Felix de Jesus as the two fought on the gym floor.

TROUBLE'S APLENTY
ANDOVER, Mass. (AP)—Weston Dean Eastman Jr., 11, fell out of a tree a week ago and was carried home in a police cruiser badly shaken. Friday he was operated on for appendicitis. Sunday his parents visited him and found out he has developed mumps and tonsillitis.

TOO MANY MINK
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—They've got too much mink in east Texas, State Rep. James V. Adams of Mount Pleasant said Monday mink are fine in coats but bad running loose. He introduced a bill to allow an open season on the fur-bearing animals.

FEWER SCOTS MIGRATE
EDINBURGH (Reuters)—The number of Scottish immigrants to Canada dropped by 16,000 last year. Government figures showed that 4,000 Scots moved to Canada last year, compared with 20,000 in 1957. The net migration in 1958 totalled 16,800, less than half the figure for 1957.

SIX DIE IN STORM
BREMEN, Austria (AP)—Two more skiers were found dead Monday in the Silvretta Alps, raising to six the number of known dead in a snowstorm that raged through the mountains and trapped skiing parties during the

Reporter Visits Studio, Stars

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Well, sir it was just like the good old days.
The mammoth stage was covered with yellow sandvut and three multi-hued rings. Hundreds of extras cheered from the stands as the floats and elephants and clowns paraded by. Scores of dancing girls twirled and whirled.
You'd think there never had been a depression in Hollywood! There has, of course. Evidence: There wasn't another movie being made at MGM that day. And even the makers of The Big Circus, who were bucking trend, were renters of space at the once-thriving studio. The picture is being produced by Allied Artists.
CATCHING UP
Besides affording a whiff of the good old days, the picture gave me a chance to catch up with some old friends. Here is what I learned from them:

Peter Lorre—"As soon as I finish here, I've got to rush to Spain where Mike Todd Jr. is waiting for me to start his Smelovision Picture. Yes, I know it sounds corny, but I think the boy has some of the old man's showmanship. He figures, and I think rightly, that every American will want to see the picture once."
"The device is amazing. It is rigged under every seat to provide the odor of what is being shown on the screen. I understand that they can erase the odors in 15 seconds."

HANNIBEL NEXT
Victor Mature—"The other day I was playing a scene about a train wreck. We're supposed to open in the next town but we have no transportation. I had a speech about how 2,000 years ago, Hannibal crossed the Alps with the aid of elephants. That's how we keep the date."
"I was doing the closeup of the scene when I got a phone call from my agent. He said he had a script from an Italian company that wanted to make a picture about Hannibal. 'Come on, you're kidding me,' I said. I still wouldn't believe him until I saw the script."
"It's not bad. If I can get the changes and the kind of deal I want, I'll do it."
Gilbert Roland—"Yes, I succumbed to TV. This month I will make the first of a series we're calling Amigo.
Red Buttons—"I'm thinking of buying a house here. I'm through paying fabulous rents for houses in Hollywood while I keep my place in New York. You can't live in two places at once, so why pay out the dough?"

Opening lead—queen of diamonds.

There are a great many times when a declarer is faced with a choice of two plays, either of which seems to be equal in merit, and the choice does not appear to matter. Quite often, in these cases, the result is the same regardless of which play is selected.

But there is nevertheless an obligation on the part of the declarer to examine such situations closely, to see whether or not reasons can be found why one play should be preferred over the other. Failure by South to follow this practice caused him to lose the four heart contract in today's hand.

West led the queen of diamonds.

Dummy's king was taken with the ace and the three of diamonds was returned. West won with the ten and continued with the jack.

When dummy trumped with the seven, East overruffed. East then cashed the ace of spades and declarer was down one.

Had declarer allowed the queen of diamonds to win the opening lead, he would have made the contract. No overruff would have taken place and South would have lost only two diamonds and a spade. Declarer's third diamond could be discarded on one of dummy's high clubs.

From South's viewpoint at trick one, it is inconceivable that West can have the ace of diamonds, having opened the queen. Since East therefore becomes marked with the ace, nothing can be gained by covering the queen with the king.

On the contrary, ducking the queen of diamonds can gain whenever East was dealt a singleton or doubleton diamond. Where East has a singleton diamond, he is forced to play the ace on his partner's queen, thus establishing dummy's king. And where East has a doubleton diamond—that is, A-x—the danger of a third round diamond overruff is substantially reduced.

So, although it does not seem to matter very much a declarer whether he covers the opening lead or not—this would certainly be true in most deals—the better play is for declarer to duck . . . just in case.

Wheat Pact Approved by UN Conference

GENEVA (Reuters) — A new three-year International Wheat Agreement has been approved by the United Nations wheat conference, it was announced today.
The new agreement provides for price range of $1.50 to $1.90 (Canadian) a bushel.
The present arrangement expires at the end of July. The new one, open for signature in Washington from April 6-24, expires July 31, 1962.

The objectives of the new agreement have been broadened considerably and now includes the promotion of expanded trade and the freest possible flow of wheat.

New Victory Reports Conflict in North Iraq

By TOM MASTERSON

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Iraq rebel radio was not heard in Beirut today, but there was no way of determining immediately whether this meant the Communist-influenced regime of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem had triumphed over the rebellious army officers.

Baghdad radio meanwhile repeated the claims it made Monday — that the insurrection in north Iraq had been crushed and its leader, Col. Abdel Wahab Shawa, had been killed by his own men.

The rebel radio in the north Iraq oil city of Mosul had grown steadily weaker before it stopped broadcasting about midnight Monday night. The last announcement did not say when broadcasting would be resumed.

The final rebel broadcast repeated the aims of the revolution.

REPORTS CONFLICT

The two sides had kept up conflicting reports of victory. Crowds of Kassem supporters celebrated here as the government radio blared word that the insurrection had been smashed.

A rebel broadcast quickly denied this and said that a rebel column was marching on Baghdad. The insurgent radio claimed that rebels held the whole northern area and were fanning out over the country.

The early rebel broadcasts made it plain the insurgents were siding with Arab unity aims of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic. The rebels did not mention Nasser by name, but growing strength of communism in Baghdad government circles.

"We do not want to replace our Moslem religion with atheism," it said.

AP correspondent Stan Carter, first American reporter to reach Baghdad after the revolt, said the Kassem government gave no sign of fearing that the rebellion would spread to the capital.

Demonstrations surged all over the city in support of Kassem. A curfew which has been in effect since Kassem overthrew the monarchy last July was lifted for celebrations in advance of the start today of the Moslem holy month of Ramadan.

Western oil executives said there had been no interruption in the flow of oil from the Kirkuk field in the north to the Mediterranean. The field now produces about 500,000 barrels a day but it could be stopped easily by sabotage to the pipe link system.

CITY COUNCIL BRIEFS

Free Parking Issue Will be Discussed

Decision on whether Penticton city council should reverse the new policy of no more free parking for convention guests in the city, was deferred last night to next week. Largely responsible for the postponement was the fact that Mayor C. E. Oliver's renewed attempt to justify his suspension of the city works superintendent two weeks ago, pushed the end of council's agenda into the early hours of Tuesday morning and council did not feel equal to another long debate at 12:30 a.m.

INSURANCE TENDERS

Wide variance in quotations submitted for the city's comprehensive liability insurance coverage was noted. The four tenders received, referred to the finance and administration committee, were: J. W. Lawrence, $9,385.00; T. H. Osborne, $7,455; A. F. Cumming, $5,339.34; and F. O. Bowsfield, $2,918.20. Premiums quoted were for three years in each case.

SURVEY REFUSED

The provincial government has refused to step in and make an impartial, third-party survey of the location of Valleyview Road where there is a divergence between what the city survey and local property owners' calculations claim for the road's location. Divergence is up to 40 feet. The matter was referred to council's board of works committee for discussion with the city's surveyor.

PEACH FESTIVAL GRANT

Request from Penticton and District Peach Festival Association for the annual festival grant of $1,000 was referred to the final budget committee for disposal.

LIGHTING PETITION

Need for street lighting on Parkview Street at the west end of Elm Avenue was noted in a petition from four residents of the area, referred to the electrical department committee. The petition pointed to a heavy pedestrian traffic on this street, particularly in the summer months.

TOO EARLY, TOO LATE

St. Ann's parish is being advised that its application for tax exemption on the new church property on Main Street is too late for any exemption this year since such exemptions must be arranged by Nov. 30 of the preceding year. No exemption could have been granted this year in any case since the new church is not yet completed.

year. No exemption could have been granted this year in any case since the new church is not yet completed.

LAND FOR ROAD

Jim Thom is to be offered $1,865 including $615 for damages, for a 50-foot strip off his Granby Avenue property for road purposes. He would also be reimbursed for 100 feet of domestic water main.

COVER MORE DITCH

Request from Penticton Golf and Country Club for the city to fill in an additional 100 feet of the drainage ditch through the golf course property, was approved. The ditch, part of a drainage line for the Winnipeg-Eckhardt Overhead area, forms a hazard through most of the golf course but the section in front of the tees is to be replaced by pipe at a cost of about $400.

$1,200 FOR SIGN

Estimate of $1,200 from L. and L. Signs for a large "Welcome to Penticton" sign that is to list all city organizations and churches that wish to be included, was referred to the finance and administration committee for recommendation. The second similar sign or "readograph" would cost 10 per cent less. Participating groups would contribute towards the cost of the sign and its annual maintenance, it was suggested.

METER REVENUE

Monthly report from the traffic superintendent showed total receipts from parking meters during February came to $1,086 bringing 1959 receipts to date to $1,969 compared with $2,148 for the same period last year. Receipts per meter day were 14.2 cents for February, and 13.1 cents for the first two months of 1959 compared with 15.6 cents for the same period last year.

POLICE REPORT

Monthly report from Penticton Detachment RCMP said 47 traffic warnings and 231 parking penalties were handed out during February. There were 101 complaints received and investigated; five unlighted street lamps reported; two business places found unlocked; six articles reported lost and four found; and two bicycles reported stolen with none recovered. Fines payable to the municipality totalled $1,245.

PETITION FOR WATER

Petition for installation of a domestic water main along Pineview Road and south along a newly dedicated street for 310 feet, was referred to the domestic water committee. Four of the five property owners affected signed for the line as a local improvement project.

WON'T BACK LICENCE

Council will neither support nor oppose the current application of Shangri-la Auto Court for a liquor licence in its Tibetan Room. "We not only represent people who like a drink as I do, but we also represent those who are opposed to drinking," said Ald. C. P. Bird. Rest of council agreed, Ald. P. E. Pauls adding that Penticton has developed as a family resort centre and liquor outlets in auto courts is not consistent with this.

IT'S A SHORT VERSION, TOO

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A man walked into detective headquarters Monday to report the theft of a tape recorder.

It was just another routine entry in the long list of minor crimes recorded daily.

Routine, that is, until detective John Stevenson asked the man his name. He spelled it out for him:

Hubert Blaine Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenbergerdorff, Sr.

"That's a shortened version," he told the astounded officer. His full name, he added, continues in a single word for two more typed lines of legal size paper.

Stevenson assured the gentleman the shortened version was good enough for police purposes and the man left before anyone thought to ask where he acquired the lengthy surname.

Four Arrested In $72,000 Bank Robbery

MASSAPEQUA, N.Y. (AP) — Police today arrested a plumber, an insurance salesman, a blueprint developer and a tavern owner and said they admitted pulling a $72,000 bank robbery here Monday.

The plumber was picked up Monday night on a tip. After all-night questioning, police said, he named his accomplices.

Police said the three were counting the money when they were surprised this morning. All the money was recovered.

RCAF to Form Aerobatic Team

By DAVID McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Millions of Canadians this summer will again get a chance to see the RCAF at its flying best.

It was learned authoritatively Monday that the air force will form a team of aerobatic fliers which will be one of the main attractions at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, the Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver, the Calgary Stampede and other big shows and fairs across the country.

The team will be known as The Golden Hawks and will fly gold-painted Sabre Jet fighter planes. The pilots will wear gold-painted helmets and on the fuselage of the sabres will be painted a red hawk's head.

LEADER PICKED

The leader of the team will be Ptl. Lt. J. A. G. Villeneuve of Ottawa. The other five members now are being chosen.

Literally hundreds of RCAF pilots have applied for membership on the team, which soon will go into training at the operational training unit at Chatham, N.B.

Four of the fliers will perform as a team. One other member will perform singly and the sixth is a spare in case of illness. The team has been formed to commemorate the 50th anniversary of powered flight in Canada and the 35th birthday of the RCAF.
